

An immaculately presented one bedroom, 1st floor period conversion that's deceptively spacious. The original skylight on the landing offers masses of natural light, along with the big original sash windows that allow sunlight into the property throughout the day.

It has a great balance between original features whilst meeting the modern day expectations. An open working feature fire place in the lounge, original sash windows throughout that have recently been refurbished, a recently replaced roof and a loft which is insulated and the majority of which is boarded, means storage is not an issue.

The property offers a dining room with built in utility space, good sized modern fitted kitchen and period style fitted bathroom. There is direct access to the communal garden.

There is a lovely community spirit and transport links are great and ever growing, now with talks of the Bakerloo Line being extended South bound into Lewisham and Brockley Market only a walk away.
